

Production Engineer Romcim Progresu Concrete Station

Job assignment summary

Coordination of the specific production activity of a concrete plant, ensuring the production and delivery of concrete in accordance with the quality standards requested by customers.

Responsibilities

- To ensure the coordination of the concrete production activity to the parameters required by the clients in compliance with the norms in force - under the direct guidance of the concrete production manager.
- To manage the performance of the concrete production flow, ensuring the fulfillment of the specific performance indicators (KPI-s).
- To program, track, optimize costs and propose action plans to the production manager to make the activity more efficient.
- To draw up specific production reports and documents specifically requested from concrete production.
- To coordinate the good organization of traffic flows within the station in compliance with the procedures.
- To ensure - together with the concrete production manager - the planning of human resources so that the production is delivered on time and in compliance with the required quality standards.

Requirements

- Studies: bachelor's degree in engineering, preferably in the field of construction
- Experience: minimum of 2-3 years (experience in construction projects is a plus)
- English: advanced